SOROSIS.

There were but few absent yesterday afternoon, when Sorosis members responded to roll call in Mrs. Eugene Hamilton's pleasant home on West Hill.

Club called to order by president, Mrs. Biggers.

Quotations and reading of secretary's report were followed by a business session, in which business old and new was transacted to the satisfaction of every one.

Committee reports were heard. Mrs. B. P. Smith responding for the Park committee. They "are waiting, only waiting," on the powers that be.

Mrs. J. H. Griffin, chairman of the committee on club stationery reported that returns from Kansas City were not entirely satisfactory, and the committee would probably get their paper in Chickasha.

An excellent paper prepared and read by Mrs. Marsh, on the "Thirteen Original Colonies," elicited much favorable comment. Mrs. March certainly put much time and study, and much looking over old archives and tradition to evolve such an interesting essay on the subject.

Mrs. Morgan Hamilton's paper on "The noted Men and Women of America prior to 1776," gave evidence that she too was writing on a subject made familiar by reading and study. The facts collected and woven together in language elegant and expressive made it a pleasure to listen to the essays of Mrs. Hamilton, and Mrs. March.

After the program, current events.

Mrs. F. E. Riddle, critic, has always something original and unique in her criticisms and the mistakes and the criticisms are amusing and instructive too. For do we not always profit by—that is, do better next time, by being made aware of our mistakes?

Mrs. J. R. Harris as chairman of the executive committee, requested that each member write on a slip of paper and bring to our next meeting, the course of study she would choose for next year.

One visitor, Miss Jenkins was present.

Sorosis was glad to welcome a new member, Mrs. J. C. Crosby.

Adjourned to meet Wednesday, November 21st. Mrs. Mathers, Hostess Mrs. Gamel will read a paper on the Declaration of Independence and the Revolutionary War. President, Mrs. Biggers will read a paper on the Life of Benjamin Franklin.
